

Telling Sentences

Or

Questions

Created by Ruth Pohlman

Jefferson County Schools

Some sentences tell something.

Telling
sentences begin with a capital letter.

Telling sentences end with a period.

A telling sentence is also called a statement.

Here are some examples of telling sentences, or statements.

- Jenny planted a seed.
- She gave it water.
- It sat in the sunshine.
- The plant began to grow.
- The leaves grew large.
- A flower opened.

Do you know which groups of words make a sentence?

Tigger is orange with black stripes.

Tigger's ears and nose.

Tigger, Eeyore and Pooh had a picnic

My sister likes to sleep with Pooh.

Always begin a sentence with a capital letter.

End an asking sentence, or question, with a question mark. ???????

Can you find the groups of words that ask a question?

Do you know what kind of animal I am?

You are a raccoon.

what time do we eat lunch

What is your favorite flavor of ice cream?

